Our strong culture attracts amazing and talented people

Our Core Values

Obsession with Excellence

Free to be You & Me

Never Stop Learning

Beliefs

Life is too short to waste your time delivering work you are not proud of

We can only be successful if we put the customer first, by aiming for sustainable relationships.

Competition creates energy and sharpness to deliver outstanding results and become the best versions of ourselves. We don't see our competitors as enemies, but as other players, like in a sports game.

We can't improve what we don't measure. Numbers are never the only goal in itself, but quantifying results is crucial.

Impact is always a combination of quality and quantity. Aiming for 99.99% perfection is unlikely to maximize output and effectiveness

"Mens sana in corpore sano" (Juvenal) - We need a healthy body and mind to thrive in our high performance culture

Obsession with Excellence

Beliefs

Greatness and creativity start with everyone feeling free to bring their best self forward

We don't believe in a "work version" and "private version" of you.

We believe you are more satisfied and productive when you can be yourself at work

Teamwork is key: only a team of exceptional people rallying around a shared purpose can really make an impact in the world

We value actions over smooth talking and results over hours worked or working location

Free to be You & Me

Beliefs

Learning is not just a tool to achieve better results, but learning & growing is one of the things that make life worth living

Curiosity fuels innovation and development

We need to continuously reinvent ourselves in order to thrive in such a rapidly changing company, in a rapidly changing industry in a rapidly changing world

Failing is okay. It's an opportunity to learn and grow. When we fail, we work to understand what went wrong and avoid the same mistakes in the future

Self-reflection and feedback allow us to learn from our own experiences and are among the most powerful tools for continuous growth and development

Never Stop Learning

Artifacts make our culture tangible:
easy to observe and to recognize, they are the 'what' and 'how' of culture.

Feedback is a key element of Omnia culture and a powerful tool for learning and growing

It is our aim to create a culture where people feel free and respected to ask, give and receive feedback regularly and where feedback is used to learn from each other.

We encourage everyone to speak up, ask for clarification, or respectfully disagree with decisions. We expect everyone to take the responsibility to clarify their point of view and to participate in a discussion about the subject with decision-makers

Omnia welcomes and considers everyone's opinion, but may not agree. Once (after discussion) the decision is made, we expect everyone's support to make it as successful as possible.

It takes humility to seek feedback. It takes wisdom to understand it, analyze it and appropriately act on it

- Steven Covey

Feedback accelerates personal and organizational growth

High performers want to be surrounded & challenged by other high performers

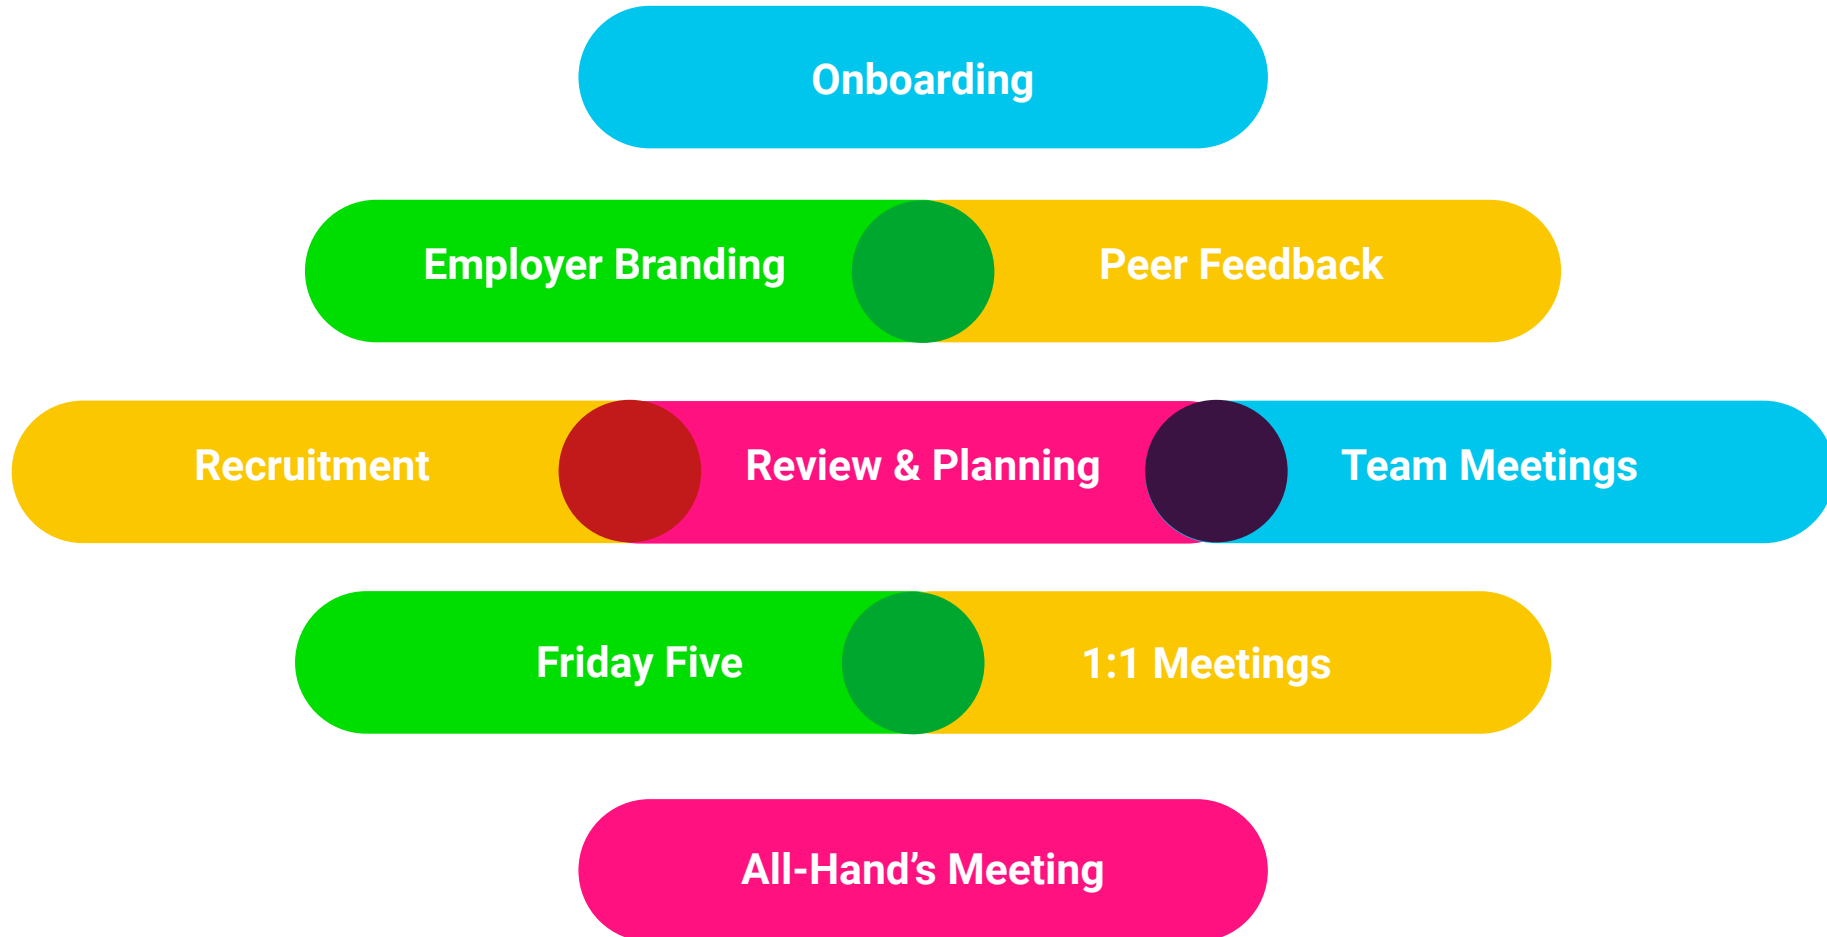

- ✓ We hire to elevate, bringing in only people we can learn from.
 - ✓ We set high bars for ourselves and our teams and take ownership for our actions
 - ✓ We transparently and candidly review performance & potential, actively taking action in case of under or over performance
 - ✓ Personal development is an important part of our culture, but everyone is responsible for their own path

The key to greatness is to look for people's potential and spend time developing it.

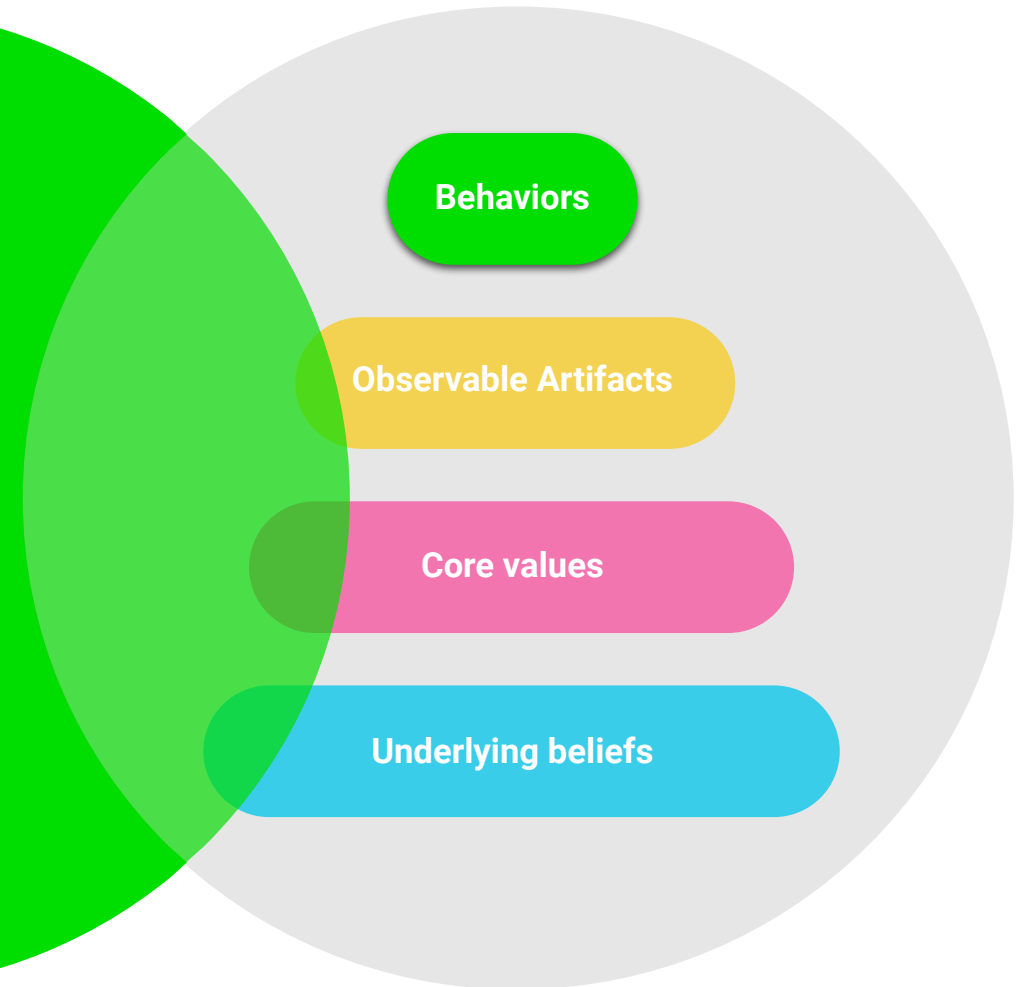

- Peter Drucker

Our values are embedded in our DNA and part of all our interactions

In a strong company culture, beliefs and behaviors are aligned. There can be many, sometimes opposite, behaviors for a single value. Defining behaviors removes value ambiguity and makes it easier to define standards and to know what is expected.
